

The New York City Taxi and Limousine Commission doesn't require you to use a child safety seat in yellow cabs, but the fender-bender risk is high enough that you'll want to lug one along. (And it's the law in every other kind of car, nationwide.)

If you're going to the airport (or just want to splurge), some car services provide car seats... Even better, Kid Car New York (www.KidCar.com) has age-appropriate car seats for infants, toddlers and older kids.